

December 2004

Arclinea recipient of the prestigious Metropolitan Home “Modernism” award

On November 10, at the Four Seasons in New York, Arclinea received the annual Metropolitan Home Modernism award.

Arclinea was the only Italian company selected by a jury comprised of journalists from the prestigious American magazine. Arclinea was commended for the spirit and originality of its Collection and for the enthusiasm and passion that it contributes as a firm to the development of Modernism in the 20th Century.

Togetherness, experience and innovation: these are the simple, yet driving elements behind the identity of Arclinea, and the source of its philosophy which leads the company to products of greater value.

Fresh and surprising solutions which aim to match our concrete needs.

The other international firms that received the Modernism award in the automotive, appliance, kitchen accessory and textile industries are Infiniti (the luxury division of the Nissan group), Dyson, Bodum and The Rug Company.

The award was accepted in New York and presented by the director of Metropolitan Home, Ms. Anne Triage at an event attended by clients and celebrities alike.